Surely the telegraph is threatened with a serious opposition in the near future.

SONS OF MONEY-BAGS.

The Giant Stock Operators to Give Their Sons a Chance.

Youthful Goulds and Vanderbitts to Try Their Hamis—Hoys Who May or May Not Wuste Their Futbers' Millions.

New Yoak, April 24 .- Discussing the alleged retirement from active business life of some of Wall street's most prominent operators, the Star says: This probable retirement of Mr. Gould, who is the acknowledged leader in Wall street to-day. was followed by the aanouncement that his chief rival in the speculative world, Win. H. Vanderbilt, is also arranging his business affairs with a view to spending the remainder of his days in a quiet and less disturbed manuer, and to place the burden of his heretofore great labors upon the shoulders of his sons, who, he thinks, have abundantly shown themselves to be apt scholars and capable to assume the responsibility. Especially is it so with Cornelius, his, eldest son, who is regarded by his father as very conservative. Cornelins is rather pionsly inclined and earries somewhat a sanctimonions countenance, while William K. is quite the reverse.

"He is more speculative and go-aheadative than his elder brother," said a well-known New-street broker, who is an intimate friend of the family. "He is more like his grandfather, the Commodore, not easily frightened at figures in connection with Wall-street operations."

"Then you think the elder Vauderbilt proposes to retire from active business?"

I know that he does. Much of the stock specularive business which is now attributed to the father is really connected in no way with him, but is exclusively confined to the dealings of the boys. They employ the same brokers who formerly did the business of the Commodore, and since of William H., and for this reason it often creates an impression that all purchases and sales are for the occount of the tather."

"How do the boys carry on their opera-

"Their dealings are largely confined to the roads under their management—New York Central, Lake Sbore, Campla Southern, Michigan t'entral, Northwest and Duale. They seldom visit Wall street, but energy on their operations by private wires from the Grand Central Depot, or from oldoes in the Lame-liate neighborhood. In take Soore they have made big money, and in all their deals they have been successful. Their operations are sufficiently large and bold to earry them to a successful termination, and this, in reality, was the secret' of the Commodore's great

" How did the Vanderbilt boys get their start in life?"

"White the Commodore was living, the Vanderbilt boys were scarcely heard of, and even William II. was kept in the background, owing to the imperious and antocratic manner of the Commodore toward his family and all his relatives. Especially was this the case with his sous-in-law. James M. Cross, a fine looking and worthy gentleman, married the eldest Vnaderbilt girl, and shortly afterward was anxious to embark in business. At that time the safest and most prolitable business was, known us the leather trade in the Swump' District, Mr. Cross found a man experienced in that line who impressed him so much with his ability that a partnership was concluded, a store was rented, clerks were negotiated with, and all that was wanting was the $50,000 which Cross was to furnish. He called upon the Commodore, laid his plans before him and asked for the money. The Commodore asked:

"James, how much do you think the new business will make for you in a year If I should advance the $50,000?' Desiring to be regarded as conservative, Cross responded that it would certainly net him with great deliberation, 'I can do much better with $50,000 than that myself. I will give you a salary of $5,000 a year and send you to California to look after my business interests there.'

"When the Commodore died, however, leaving $80,000,000, the hulk of his fortune to his favorite son, William II., he left $5,000,000 to young Cornelius, $2,000,000 to William K., $1,000,000 to Frederick and $1,000,000 to George Vanderbilt, ail sons of William II. This inheritance, all but George, who is under age, they received when they reached their majority age, and started in life for themselves. Since that time they have paddled their own cances. It is safe to say that they are worth to-day from $5,000,000 to $10,000,-000 each."

"George Gould," said Heary Clews, "is twenty-three years of age, his father's pet and his daddy's joy. He is as bright as he looks, and only lacks experience to enable him to wear his father's cloak during his absence on a yachting excursion. He has never tried to do much on his own account, and that experience he now lacks. He always relied upon and put his trust in his father, whose dealings were sufficiently large of 'iate years to provide for George and the rest of the family. When Jay Gould absents himself, George undoubtedly will develop, and soon show the stuff of which he is made. Heretofore he has made some money from his interest in the firm of W. E. Connor & Co., as they are regarded to have been quite successful in their operations. It will be a new era, however, for Wall street for these giants in finance, William H. Vanlerbilt and Jay Genld, to take back seats and the young bloods to come to the front. What Wall street needs is young blood, because it makes activity, and it is the rapidity of action in transactions which creates activity and brings wealth to those who possess it. It also briags with it the many qualities of boldness and self-reliance—the latter being the quality of all others, especially when backed by good judgment. That is the basis of success lu Wull street. It tenches those who possess it to shua 'points' and information which are sown broadcast on the street and invariably wreek those who follow them. Other young bloods who are conspicuous on Wall street are the soas of George I. Seacy, the banker philanthrepist, and Charles A. Johnes. The instances where sons of wealthy men have shown self-sustaining ability are rather to be regarded as exceptions, bowever, as generally sons of very rich men do not sicceed to their fathers' talents and business shrewdness. Their great expectations through life seem to satisfy them, and lwarf completely their energies to strike ent and try to make a name and finne for themselves."

THE SOUTHERN CYCLONE.

Rasnges. Wassov, Miss., April 24,-Previous 86wants but poorly tells the story of the calimity that has overtaken the two prosperous towns, but in the confusion naturally consequent upon such an occurrence, it is impossible to give a complete and comprehensive story. The heavy rain that fell during the evening, while it added to the misery of the sufferers, and made the condition of the victims who were rendered homeless pitable in the extreme; it still should be considered as almost a God send, for withant it the horrors of the affair must bave been four fold, for fire would certainly have followel and completed the cyclone's work of destruction, rendering the resence of many of the wounded impossible. It is believed that all the wounded have been taken from the debris. In Beauregard the search of the ruins was being prose atel in a half-hearted kind of n way, the vastness of the cutastrophe and the completeness of the destruction having seemingly paralyzed the survivors.

The depot was swept away and not a sign of it now remains.

Following is a partial list of the dead and wonneled:

SAVANNAH, April 24.—A dispatch from Enstmanga says that a cyclone passed over that town, doing great damage. The house of John Register was blown down and his two children were killed. Samuel Harris' house was demolished, and his wife and children were badly injured.

A Church-Boroing Parson.

MEXICO, Mo., April 24.—The Rev. Silas Smith (colered) has been behind the bars since Saturday, when he was brought back from St. Louis. He tried very hard to get frieuds to go on his $500 bond, but not enough of them were property-holders to rescue their shepherd. Mr. Smith is very much depressed, but still insists that he did not lustigate the burning of the rival faction's church. Ann Crockett says that Smith vondooed her and caused her to fire the building. She has been released on turning State's evidence, and Mrs. Redman, who is in jail as accessory to the crime, is said to have succeeded Ann in Mr. Smith's regard.

METHODISTS MUST NOT GO.

Opposition by Methodist Ministers to the Dramatic Festival.

CINCINNATI, April 24.—The Memodist ministers are sincert in their opposition to the Dramatic Festival. They will not make any violent fight against it. Their resolutions adopted yesterlay had not a dissenting vote, and it is generally naderstood that each paster will, in his own way, use his influence to rouse members of his congregation to a sense of their obligations. The discipline of the church is pronounced against the theater. Dr. Walden says:

"The general rule, in which there has been ao change from the beginning, pronennces against 'the partaking of such diversions as cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus,' The General Conference, in 1872, at its session in Brooklyn, believing that this language was not suffieiently explicit, specified the following, among other forms of improduct and unchristian conduct: 'Dancing, playing at games of chance, attending theaters, horse races, dancing parties, or patronizing dancing schools or taking such other amusements as are obviously of mislealing or questionable moral tendency.' Two general conferences have been held since, neither of which have modified the language. It was adopted by a unanianous vote, and is the full, correct, and emphatic expression of the Metholist Episcopal Church at this honr. But what enn be said in moldition to the resolutions adopted? Theatrical entertainments are now, and always have been, detrimental to the interests of morality and religion. The theater in itself is bad. The fact of holding it in Music Hall makes it no less a theater. The tendency of the stage for the past twenty-five years has been downward. The advertising bills indicate it. Twenty-five years ago classical dramas were presented, but you rarely see one advert sed now. But you can make no exceptions. The theater is bad in itself, and cannot, according to the discipline of our clarch, be encouraged."

Delicious Penches Promised.

Panabetenna, April 24.—A wholesals produce merchant, who deals extensively in finits, returned yesterday from the Delnware peach district.

"The Delaware peach crop," he said, "can be depended upon this season to be an exceptionally fine one. An excessive yield, and consequent depreciation of the quality of the finit from overloading and overtaxing the trees, is not expected, but an average yield in quantity, 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 bushels, which there is every reason to anticipate, will be remarkable for its richness in flavor and excellent size. The extraordinary crop of 1871, when the yield reached 8,000,000 bushels and the market was glutted, will not be repeated, but the difference in quantity will more than be made up by the pungently succluring theory, which promises to be of the best.

The greatest risk of damage to the copp by frost is between the first and twentieth days of this month. During the past winter everything has been tavorable to the development of the peaches. Since last December the season has been steadily celd, which left the sap in the roots. A winter like that also gives the trees a complete 'rest,' as the growers call it, which is a certain guarantee of large sized peaches during the following summer. The backward spring has returned growth, until now danger from frost is reasonably thought to be over, and nature will proceed with her best methods to make the peach crop for 1883 delicious.

"Every spring the growers select specimen branches from variously situated trees, and these are placed in hothouses and their ends dipped in water that is kept torpid. Then the buds are forced until an expert can tell, with the aid of a microscope, precisely what the nature of the caming crop will be. From these and other recognized indications I am conviaced that the yield will be of average bulk, and of the finest flavor."

A Bad Man Meets His Death on the Gallows.

* Franklin, Tex., April 24.—Wyatt Banks was hanged here yesterday afternoon for the murder of Jailer Add Wyser, Mny 28, 1882. Waite and two other prisoners, Daniel Compton and Wyatt Banks, the last named colored, plotted the murder. Waite earried it out by concealing himself in the prison corridor while allowed the use of it for exercise, and when the juiler brought the prisoners their breakfast, White beat him to death with a bur of iron.

Waite had procured a blanket, torn it into strips, and tied them around his feet, so as to denden the noise of his footsteps. Sunday morning Wyser entered the corridor accompanied with food for the prisoners. As he was placing the vessels containing their food upon a stand in the rear part of the corridor, Waite slipped out of the vacant cell in which he had been concealed, and struck him a murderous blow on the back of the head with the piece of pipiag, felling him to the floor. The field then showered blow after blow upon his vistim, nutil he was beaten into insensibility. Taking the jailer's pistol, watch and valuables, Waite released his accomplices, and they ran to the woods.

The pirizens turned out on masse, and in less thou half an hour returned all the prisoners (five or six in number) with the exception of Wyatt Banks and Fred E. White. They put a bloodhound on Banks' trail, and after following the dog through farms, gludes and woods for some three miles, the dog luited at a negro cubia and barked, and Banks was found concealed within and returned to jail. White was captured shortly afterward in a field, where he had lain down on the ground to rest.

All were convicted. Waite was hanged just one month ago and Compton is in the Penitentiary for life.

Banks was a mulatto, a barber by trade, and was twenty-five years of age.

Banks was hanged in the jail upon the same gallows upon which Waite was executed a mouth ago. A large crowd was admitted, but there was no disorder.

THE FOREIGN BUDGET.

Ramifications of Fenjanism.

London, April 21 .- The Times says the Government has obtained information, in the course of the recent inquiries, that the curolled members of the Fenian organization in the United Kingdom number 150,-000, and there are besides distinct offshoots of Fenianism, such as the Vigilants and Inviacibles. Eugene Kingston, who was arrested at Liverpool and taken to Dublin, was a member of both these branches. Such double membership is musual. There are, besides, secret sections affiliated with the American dynamite party. The police have accurate information regarding the movements of the conspirutors, and it is expected further revelations will be made.

Revolts Against Cetennyo.

Loydon, April 21.— Dispatches from Zubiland state that there is serious fighting among the tribes in the interior, the revolution caused by the restoration of Cetewaya to his throne, which is vesisted by the more influential of the local chiefs.

The Irish Triats.

Drulin, April 2f.—Joseph Himbin, another of the prisoners charged with being implicated in the Phonix Park murders, is expected to turn informer. The Government apparently mistrusts its ability to make out a case against him, and intends using him at the second trial of Timothy Kelly.

Timothy Kelly, the alleged Phonix Park murderer, in whose case the jury fulled to agree last Friday, was again placed on trial to-day.

The English Explosive Acts.

LONDON, April 24.—The Home Secretary has been overwhelmed with letters and petitions reminding him of the trades interests, which may be, even if they are not already, seriously involved by the explosives bill, and members of the llonse of Commons are in receipt of petitions urging the necessity of an immediate change in the laws. The principal operators who suffer directly from the law and who feel its effects at once, are mine owners, quarrymen, builders and others who depend almost entirely on the use of dynamite to enrry on their legitimate business. They have already been harassed by the inconvenient restrictions placed on commercial transactions in explosives, and the new law makes it dangerous to carry on their buslness at all, as it places them practically ut the mercy of blackmailers and pretended

The New York Sun discusses the next Democratic cambidate for President. It refers to the prominence given to the name of Tiblen and the Republican sentiment that in ease of his nomination the idea of electing a Republican would practically disappear. He would unite all factions of the Democracy. It says: And yet how does this candilate who would fill the Democrats with enthusiasm and the Republicans with anxiety correspond with the sort saggested by various members of the Democratic party. If Mr. Tilden is not to lead his party what must be the principles of the standard bearer who shall be chosen? Shall be appear as a representative mainly of the pure and equitable doctrine of free trade, a theory which the indebtedness of this country must for years to come render impracticable? Or, shall he be a man capable of grappling with the vltnl needs of the country and ready to head the enormous army of voters who drove out the majority of the last Congress because of their riotons extravagance and indifference to the necessity of reducing the burden of our taxes? This is a question for genuine Democrats to think over.

Concerning the crop prospects in Kentucky the Cincinnati News says: The reports received, while not covering the whole state, represent fairly the average condition of the best wheat growing sections. They are up to April 20. The lust previous reports made were March 31, just after a season of dry, freezing weather, and shortly after the February floods, which, in some places, had overflowed larger sections seldom touched by water, and done great damage by washing away the soil, carrying the growing plants along. In many places the severe freezes in January had killed a large proportion of the crop, and thinned out fields that were more than usually hixuriant in the start. March was a very backward month in this section, and farmers saw their wheat much behind section and sold on Cammission. Market St., four doors below Central Hotel. a123 riant in the start. March was a very last year's condition at that time, and so reported. The commissioner of agriculture estimated from his reports of March 31 that the condition of the crop at that time was only about 70 per cent, as compared with 1882, while the acreage was 8 per cent. greater. Since April 1 the weather has been springlike. The warm san and occasional rains have worked wonderful changes. Fields that had been marked by the farmer to be plowed under came out so rapidly and promise so well that such design was abandoned, in fair hopes of getting a fair crop after all While too early to more than speculate on the outcome of a crop which must be influenced largely by the weather of the next two months, it is safe to say that it is very unlikely that such a combination of unfavorable circumstances will happen within that time as to keep the crop down to the estimate of 70 per cent. of last year, made last month. On the other hand, it would be extraordinarily good weather which would bring it up to a full average after the damage it had sustained. Part of that will, of conrse, be overbalanced by the increase in breadth. It seems only fair in all the light at present attainable to estimate that the crop of Kentucky will fall below that of last year 10 to 15 per cent.

hitched to the fence, and the hearse driver was asking if my leg was broke, and a policeman was fanning the minister with a plug but that looked as though it had been struck by a pile-driver, and some people were hauling our buggy into the gutter, and some men were trying to take the old pacer out of the windows of the street-car, and then I guess I fainted away agin. THE LABOR TURMOIL

Pittsburg Iron Workers Reject a Proposed Cut-Casi Miners Undecided -Cleveland Strike Unsuccessful.

Pertsnung, April 24.-The latest gossip that has leaked out from responsible quarters regarding the secret proceedings of the recent iron conference on the question of wages is that in addition to reducing the basis of the scale a corresponding reduction of ten per cent, or a little more, ia all departments of skilled labor, was proposed. This was rejected by the workmen's representatives, whereupon the manufacturers are reported to have told the workmen that they would hold no more joint meetings mutil the reduction is accepted. Last evening a vote on the question was taken in a number of lodges, but only a few have been heard from as yet. Three lodges on the South Side voted for a strike rather than submit to a reduction.

COAL MINERS CONSIDERING.

The cont miners hold a convention here to-day to decide whether or not they will secopt a reduction of hulf a cent a bushel. A strike of 6,000 men is not improbable. The late attempt at urbitration has embittered the struggle.

THE CLEVELAND MOLDERS' STRIKE BROKEN. CLEVELAND, April 24 .- The strike of the aiolders at the works of the Co-operative Stove Company is at last broken, and ffifty of the strikers will return to work tomorrow, having acceded to the company's demand. The proprietors of the works will hereafter employ both union and non-union

CHICAGO BRICKLAYERS.

Cuicago, April 24 .- The 4,000 striking bricklayers are still out. At the builders' exchange new men from various points are coming in, asking for work, and getting it. There seems to be as little prospect of a compromise as ever, and the union men say they are getting all the money they need to maintain the strike.

Ohlo vs. Ramilton County.

Columnus, O., April 24.—The Auditor of State claims that Hamilton county oweto the State over $11,000, taxes which the Auditor of Hamilton county refuses to pay, claiming that the Sinte is not entitled to such taxes, and that instead Hamilton county is square with the State. W. S. Cappeller. Anditor of Hamilton county, yesterday filed his amended answer in the Supreme Court. The ease is one about which a large amount of misinformation exists, owing to the el forts made in certain circles to have it appear that the Auditor of Hamilton county owes the State the amount personally. while the fact is that Mr. Cappeller is making a strong fight to save the county which has elected him as it-Auditor from paying an umount of money which the State is not catitled to. Pero mally Mr. Cappeller is not interestel a penny's worth in the ease. The trial was set for Thursday next, but on account of the resignation of Attorney General Nush th case will be continued. Warner M. Bate man, Cappeller's attorney, telegraphed to the Auditor wanting to know when it would be set for hearing,

Mapleson Secures Patti at $5,500. New York, April 24,-The war between Abbey and Mapleson is ended, and the victory lies with the latter, as Mme. Patti has signed a contract to sing with him next season for $5.500 a night. This was what Abbey offered. Up to 5 delock last evening the diva was undecided. A reporter suw Mupleson this evening. "Now," said he, "I think everything is all right. Hoave Gerster and Lucea, besides Putti, and let me tell you a nice little bit of news: 1 think Nilsson will be all right. I mean that If she does not sing with is she will probably not sing against us. You know Mme. Albani and she went on the same steamer-that was part of the scheme. Albani is a charming woman, Christine, after the list two or three days, is very ill at sea, and as she is really bound to Mr. Gye, who is also on board, and I know she does not want to sing at these shilling concerts in London, which she will have to do under the present management, I think it will be all right."

Sinde Hands Cobnen a Few.

New York, April 21 .- At a boxing entertainment last evening the wind-up was between Herhert Slude and Joe Coburn. Slade struck out vigorously as though determined to give Cotourn a taste of his quality before going to Europe. He several times hit Coburn on the nose, and very often landed the glave on Joe's bald pute, while Joe invariably resorted to clinching to avoid the blows, but it was going from had to worse, as the Maori would entch his head in chancery and give him one blow in the face before letting him go. In the third round Slade got Coburn in n bad position, and hit him a blow on the neck, unintentionally knocking him down, Upon arising tobarn was advised by a friend to "give him one," but t'oburn did not or coold not take the advice, and after a few more blows had been exchanged the men shook hands and left the stage.

Scuntar Anthony's Hiness.

WASHINGTON, April 24 .- Senator Anthony's illness is more serious than was at first supposed. His mulady is uramic poisoning. During the session of the Sennte last winter Mr. Anthony was frequently noticed sitting by himself with a very abstracted manuer, and this peculiarity has been still more frequently observed since his return home. When he was strleken down on Saturday his intellect appeared considerably clouded, but his mind seemed rather clear yesterday. The doctor hopes to conquer this attack, but fears are expressed on every hand that the disease will eventually prove fatal. Senator Anthony was sixty-eight years old on the first day of this month. During his twenty-eight years in the United States Senate he has been very popular in Washington, and his present physical condition is no doubt due a a large measure to high living. If he lives Senator Anthony will enter upon his fifth term when the Senate meets again.

Pension Examining Swindlers.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The Commissioner of Pensions has issued a circular, stating that complaints have reached his office that nascrupulous persons are traveling throughout the country, claiming that they are authorized to represent the Commissioner of l'ensions, and that they have defrauded pensioners and applicants for pensions. No special examiner or other person employed by the pension office is authorized to receive money either as fees or expenses, and all such examiners are provided with certificates, bearing the signature of the Commissioner of Pensions and the Interior. Therefore, if any person, in the absence of such authority, should represent that he is a special examiner of the pension office, or shall demand or obtain money under any pretense whatever, he may be safely set down as a fraud and a swindler, and among the worst of his class, Commissioner Dudley states that it is his earnest desire that prompt and vigorous mensures be taken to bring these offemlers to justice.

Tahor's Troubles.

DENVER, Con., April 23 .- Society eircles are excited in consequence of ex-Senator Tabor's action in causing the arrest of W. H. Rush, his partner in the Windsor Hotel, for the alleged embezzlement of $25,000, while acting us manager of the Tabor Graad Opera-house and in attaching his interest in the hotel for the same amount. The excitement is due to the fact that Rush's wife refuses to recognize the new Mrs. Talor, being an old friend of Tabor's first wife. The feeling is strong against Tabor and it is understood his bride will be ostracised generally in society circles.

Agitated Gambiers.

ATLANTA, GA., April 24.—Great consternation prevails here among the gamblers and women of the town. The grand jury have found about 100 indictments against them thus far, and the work proceeds. It is stated on good authority that Judge llammond will impose no fines this time, but put the guilty ones in jail. Heretofore their cases have been heard in the City Court, but Judge Hammond has announced that the Superior Court, over which he presides. will try a majority of the cases.
